			So moved, is not a proper motion. A proper motion begins with" I move, then the specific motion is stated. In addition I did not receive a copy of the amendments prior to the vote. Please improve on the approach to conducting a formal business meeting. Thanks	-
			Well done! So glad we were able to have this continuing education session! Thank you!	-
			Excellent job done by all under these circumstances. Thank you.	-

			Well done	-
			Had the conference not been free, I would never have had an opportunity to attend. Thank you!	- nicely done under trying circumstances, even if a on premise conference returns, this should remain a decent alternative.	-
			During the business meeting I thought that an explanation should have been given for the reason behind the By-Law Change.	-
			I thought virtual conference was very well done, and appreciate that it was free!	-
			One of the best MDGFOA sessions I've attended in the past 25 years! Great job!	-

Lunch could have been better!	-
Nice job by all! Thank you	-
Overall a very good experience for a virtual conference - especially since it's a new experience.	-
The ethics was great. Please have him again	-
Final presenter needed about 5 more minutes.	-
The prompts for attendance was stressful. They were very frequent, random and too short for response. I did not feel I had an opportunity to use the restroom other than at break.	-
Very relevant material	-
I really enjoyed Karl Alrichs' session. That was the stand out for me.	-
The virtual conference was informative and relatively glitch-free. Thanks to all who helped make it happen!	-
For the next conference, it would be nice to hear more about IT Auditing and experiences related to this.	-
Thank you for hosting the virtual annual conference, it was the best alternative to the annual conference in Ocean City. I appreciate the bi-annual ethics training to satisfy CPE requirements. Great Value!	-
System crashed several times - making unsure whether CPE check points were missed or not when reloading.	-

		Have really appreciated Karl and his presentations for MACPA; was so glad he was a presenter today. All presenters did a great job. The materials seemed to be less critical during this webinar, as a larger portion of my attention was focused on the presenters themselves. I thought the "check in" prompts during the first session (ethics, diversity) were way too frequent - it was interesting hear about what many of us are experiencing (a shift from lack of trust in telework to a necessary reliance upon it and a new appreciation for employees working independently without much oversight), and then to feel the frequency of the "check-ins" sending a message that MDGFOA didn't trust its registered participants to actually be paying attention. It also was very different than the current approach being used by GFOA in its annual conference. As one other suggestion, the business meeting was confusing as the slides being shown were shifting back and forth, between the different amendments and it was difficult to follow which was the final, and then with timed voting on the first two out of three votes; I understand that was an unusual situation. Overall, thought this was a Great Conference, topics of relevance, great presenters and information that was truly applicable and timely. Thank you GFOA board and all those who participated in pivoting to a virtual webinar for this year. Definitely missed the view, the crabcakes, and in person relationships. Stay well and healthy.	-

		The subject matter was very relevant, presenters were great and well prepared. I hope the MDGFOA provides more virtual training opportunities. Also, I hope Affinity meetings become virtual.	-
		Diversity session did not address current protests and unrest	-
